

THE BIRMINGHAM EASTER TOURNAMENT

The 29th Birmingham Easter Congress gained in importance this year by reason of the Committee's decision to add a new Premier Tournament with the idea of qualifying strong local players for the titles of International Master and Grandmaster. There were, incidentally, the subsidiary possibilities of helping the players towards the national titles of British Master and Candidate Master.

Originally a full scale tournament of 16 players was contemplated, but, as the organisers experienced unexpected financial and organisational difficulties together with the failure of some overseas players to confirm verbal acceptances, a reduction in numbers became inevitable. Fortunately, by this time it had been made clear that an 8-player double-round event was almost as good as a 16-player section provided that one could secure at least three international masters and an overall Elo rating average of 2350 to bring the tournament into FIDE'S Category 5.

Although these conditions were not fulfilled this time the players will undoubtedly achieve substantial benefits in the British grading system and, in view of the announcement that British players with domestic ratings of 207 or better will be given provisional ratings according to their Elo equivalents for these qualifying contests, the Committee will be able, in future years, to aim for a full Category 5 event.

The tournament as finally constituted, contained International Master A.Dunkelblum (Elo 2250+), R.Borngässer (2340+), British Master P.H.Clarke (2380), Candidate Masters M.Basman (2410) and M.J.Corden (2360) and the three British players J.J.Carleton, A.J.Miles and P.C.Griffiths who have to be counted for Elo purposes as 2200 but whose 1972 British ratings will entitle them to a much higher Elo equivalent. Moreover, Borngässer, who tied with Sax for the European Championship will soon have a full Elo rating much higher than his present provisional one. The rating figure of 2292 thus underestimates the value of the tournament and the Committee thus has every prospect of being able to reach the Category 5 rating at its next attempt.

The final table shows a very good result for John Carleton and a good one for A.J.Miles, both very talented players. Carleton may well have fulfilled the norm for Candidate Master.
